

Adverganza

October 2007

GI Jonny informs, protects, disgusts

The video that I'm linking to here is Not Safe For Work. Repeat: Not Safe for Work!!! However, you could look at it under the guise of work, since it's allegedly a safe sex campaign from the U.K. featuring action figures as the protagonists, and made by a shop called The Viral Factory, which obviously knows what they're doing, as it's getting lotsa views. However, a source close to Adverganza's thinking points out that the video ... let's see ... emulates these two videos created awhile back by es/drake in Boise. So check out Action Teen Father and Teen Mommy Darci. These are safe for work and hilarious take-offs on children's toy advertising.