

People news from Perfect Fools, Campfire and more

Digital agency Perfect Fools hired Jason Koxvold (pictured) as its first creative director for the New York office. ... New York-based agency Campfire welcomed Anomaly alum Sean Ganann as its new creative director. ...

Published: Oct 27, 2008

Chicago-based agency Cramer-Krasselt hired a handful of new creatives including Todd Stone as CD, Frank Dalton as ACD, interactive, Josh Schildkraut as senior copywriter and Miranda Gerlock as senior art director. ... Chicago-based creative boutique Rivet welcomed Mitchell Branstetter as senior copywriter and Ron Szafarczyk as ACD. ... L.A.-based creative indie agency David&Goliath promoted David Cuccinello and Sean Vij to ACD posts. ... New York-based production studio Elias Arts hired Mike Pandolfo as CD/composer/general manager. ... L.A.-based production company MOO Studios signed director Martin Fougerol for exclusive spot representation in the U.S. and U.K. ... Documentary director Albert Maysles joined Nonfiction Unlimited for representation as director for commercials and new media advertising projects. ... Editor Tom Vogt has joined the roster at creative editorial company Bluerock in New York. ... Jason "JR" Roberts left his post as art director at Secret Weapon Marketing for a senior AD position at Kastner & Partners in Los Angeles. ... Composer/sound designer David Della Santa launched Volume Music + Sound in San Francisco.